

Marco Ottolenghi

Environmental economist, with a degree in statistical and economic sciences from the University of Bologna, I currently serve as Head of the Environment Unit at ART-ER.

My professional activity concerns technical and management coordination, with responsibility for activities related to:

- Sustainable and territorial development (sector environmental planning, circular economy, environmental certifications, Green Public Procurement);
- Development and support of the regional solidarity economy
- Development and support of the regional sports system

observatory, carried out under the agreement with the Emilia-Romagna Region.

My skills mainly concern environmental qualification of products and processes and green public procurement, analyses and studies for the development of policies supporting the green economy and circular economy, support for sector environmental policies (air, water, waste), also through participation in projects developed under European calls (LIFE).